

Clanranald First-class stag hunt in the Scottish Highlands

Experience genuine Scottish culture and fantastic hunting in the exciting landscape of Clanranald, West of Fort William. Here you will feel as if you are part of the McDonald clan. The owner is also a musician and has published books and recordings of music from the Scottish Highlands. In the evening hunters can relax in the family owned hotel with a malt whisky.

The estate is approx. 14,000 ha in size. The red stag hunt includes 2 stags per hunter.

CLANRANALD – SKOTLAND:

Normally, hunting is 2:1, which means 2 hunters share 1 stalker. On this kind of hunt both hunters will join the stalker to the highlands until a herd is spotted. Normally, both hunters and the stalker will stay together until they get close to the herd. Thereafter, only the stalker and the hunter, who is supposed to shoot, will go together. In that way both hunters can share the experience.

Accommodation takes place in the small hotel that belongs to the McDonald's family. Full board is included. The rooms are scarcely furnished, but with own bath and toilet.
